

Aqua browsing

The Aquabrowsing module is a visual add-on to Astragy that provides insight into complex relations between entities, such as Companies, Markets, People and Products. It shows the active entity in the center of the screen, with all of its relations in clear view, connected by thin lines. Clicking a relation places this entity in the center, showing in turn its relations. Information about each entity and relation is shown in quick popups and a single click takes the user to the complete Astragy profile of the selected entity. The Aquabrowser automatically adapts to your company's data definition and content.

Advantages

- Gain insight into complex relations between entities
- Save time browsing through large volumes of information
- Better understand market dynamics and networks

Characteristics

- Shows relations between multiple entities
- Quick info popups provide instant access to data
- Intuitive interface guides users through content
- 'Soft motion' interaction provides pleasant navigation experience

